

June 1, 2009

Murder Wrought Most Eloquently

On the last weekend of May author Terry Griggs took over The Afterword at the National Post, check it out at <http://www.nationalpost.com/arts/books/index.html> if you want to get a preview of her sparkling wit.

Terry is the author of Thought You Were Dead, a superb new murder mystery that has spawned a fantastic contest – Revenge-Lit at <http://www.revengelit.blogspot.com/>. That contest challenges readers to write about the death of a literary critic and the winner will receive $100 in cash, $1,000 in books from Biblioasis Press and publication in an upcoming issue of CNQ; Canadian Notes & Queries.

Terry is from Stratford, ON, and is the author of Quickening which was nominated for the Governor General's Award. She will be one of our guests at the THIN AIR Winnipeg International Writers Festival during the week of September 20 to 27.

Watch for Terry at the Pint of Bitter Murder Event at Aqua Books on Saturday, September 26!